

HOW TO FEATURE DIVERSE VOICES IN YOUR STORIES

WUDANYAN | @WUDANYAN

WHY SHOULD WE STRIVE TO INCLUDE DIVERSE SOURCES?

- Our stories should reflect reality, and the reality is that we live in a country and world that is diverse
- Diversity in research helps maximize innovation and invigorate problem solving
- Elevating diverse sources makes others [i.e.: donors/funders] notice them, as their research contributions are being recognized & discussed by the broader public

HOW SHOULD WE THINK ABOUT DIVERSITY & INTERSECTIONALITY

“Each of us has a myriad of identities – our gender, class , race, sexuality, and so much more – that inform our experiences in life and our interactions with the world. ... the different hierarchies, privileges, and oppression assigned to these identities affect our lives in many ways. These privileges and oppressions do not exist in a vacuum, and can combine with each other compound each other, mitigate each other, and contradict each other” – Ijeoma

mindset

HOW TO FIND DIVERSE SOURCES

- Explicitly make a call for diverse sources!
 - Via university & research institute's public information officers
 - PubMed & directed emails
 - Any and all of Roxanne's methods
